

10 Free Things on the Internet you should be using!

Everyone knows about the “free” dictionary (Wikipedia), email (G-Mail) & videos (YouTube) however there are other useful tools that don’t cost a dime!

1. Books- No “e-reader” necessary as any internet connected device can access Project Gutenberg has over 50,000 books available at no charge!
2. AudioBooks- LibreVox is the Project Gutenberg of audiobooks.
3. College Courses- Want to broaden your knowledge without “breaking the bank?” Both Coursera & Academic Earth partner with the World’s best University some courses are even free giving you college credits.
4. Tutorials- Why just rely on YouTube to provide instructions? Khan Academy where you can learn everything from economics to calculus!
5. Foreign Language- Everyone has heard of Rosetta Stone but why spend the money when DuoLingo is free?
6. Music- Of course you’ve heard of Spotify but did you know that you can access Library of Congress recordings via Archive.org?
7. Documentaries- Documentary Heaven is a great alternative to YouTube.
8. Productivity Software- Why spend over a hundred dollars for Microsoft Office when programs like OpenOffice & LibreOffice offer the same thing for free?
9. Coupons- Instead of searching for “discounts” or “coupons try sites like Coupon Sherpa & Retail Me Not.
10. Tax Software- The IRS offers free file software for those making under $62,000 a year and has free file fillable forms for those that don’t qualify.

Investment Property Financing recommends that you utilize your money wisely such as purchasing properties that only go up in value! Contact us for all your “hard money” lending needs!